

LULU AND LEANDER ON THEIR HONEYMOON

1. LULU: "Oh, Leander, dear, where is my smelling salts bottle?"
LEANDER: "Ah, sweetheart, dovey, you'll find it in my bag on the seat."

2. LULU: "Of all things! The MONSTER! Bottle of WHISKEY! Photographs of STRANGE WOMEN! PLAYING CARDS! Oh, what a shocking outrage! To think that I married such a wicked man!"

3. LULU: "The Brute! The Deceitful Beast! I'll show him! I'll not travel with such awful baggage! Out they go, the whole base lot! Oh, I'll make Leander suffer for this!"

4. COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER: "Excuse me, madam, but will you tell me why you have my bag out the window?"
LULU: "YOUR bag?"
LEANDER: "Oh, Lulu, you are in the wrong seat."

5. LEANDER: "My dear sir, I hope you will overlook this unfortunate mistake on the part of my wife. Pray forgive her hasty action."
COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER: "But, sir, I couldn't get angry at such a sweet little woman. Yet seventy-five dollars will square it. Thank you. Think no more about it."

6. LULU: "Oh, my poor, dear Leander. His petulant, jealous, rash, nasty-tempered wife has made herself look ridiculous. I know you are ashamed of me, Oh, Leander, I'll never act so hastily or be jealous again as long as I live."
LEANDER (aside): "Gee! This is worth the twenty-five!"

A VISITOR CAME; A VISITOR WENT!

But Happy Is Still Woikin' for Dr. Dippy

